Republic Decides To Remain Loyal To Munich Agreement

Premier Svyrov Appeals To Army Not To Commit Any Act That Might Bring
On More Cruel Intervention

PRAGUE, Oct. 7.—Premier Jan Svyrov appealed to the army today not to commit any act that might "bring on intervention more cruel than the present situation." "There is nothing to do," he told the troops, "but to reconcile ourselves to our fate."

"The government had decided to be loyal to the Munich agreement so as to be sure to save territory which remains. To forget your duties and useless quarrels and support them in front to work for reconstruction."

"Remember, disturbances might bring on intervention more cruel than the present situation."

SESSION UNCERTAIN
The government announced it was uncertain when parliament would be summoned to elect a successor to resigned president Eduard Benes.

"The republic's frontiers still were not definitely fixed and it was impossible as yet to tell who remain in parliament and what deputies would be elected."

Hostile forces were closing in on all sides today to give this aspect of a besieged city.

The number of fugitives is increasing. A week ago 300 daily got temporary care at the Prague Detention House. The figure has jumped to 800.

PICK-A-BACK
PLANE IS HALF
WAY TO CAPE

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The British pick-a-back seaplane Mercury was reported almost half way to Cape Town, South Africa, today, on its attempt to make a 4,700-mile flight from Dundee, Scotland, and break the world non-stop distance record.

The Mercury, a plane built almost 20 years ago, intercepted signals from the Mercury at 6:35 a.m. GMT (11:35 p.m. Thursday M.S.T.) indicating the plane had almost crossed the Sahara desert and was approaching equatorial Africa.

At Kano, West Africa, the Mercury would have covered more than 3,000 miles. The plane was released from its launch ship, the Arcturion, at 12:30 p.m. (6:30 a.m. M.S.T.) yesterday, for the attempt to better the 4,200-mile mark by three Soviet Russian airmen on a flight from Moscow to the United States by way of the North Pole in July, 1937.

The Mercury is due in Cape Town tomorrow morning.

OPPOSES PENSIONS
Ald. Fred C. Casselman argued that more details should be disclosed before the final decision was made. "I have never been in favor of a pension scheme, for a select group, especially here where the money comes from the taxpayers," he declared. "It intimates that the people are not being paid adequately, and that could never be said."

The pension scheme, for a select group, was proposed by the city of Edmonton. The ratepayer would be paid pension for some time after he has to dig in his own pocket for security for himself. A pension scheme for all-in is in favor of that, but not for one group."

Last Survivor

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 7.—Alvin Karpis, last survivor of a desperate trio which terrorized the United States midwest a few years ago, was executed in Missouri today by a firing squad.

He was the last of the three men who were executed in the Missouri state prison for the murder of a federal judge.

Urges Defence

ADMIRAL KEYES

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Admiral of the fleet Sir Roger Keyes, one of the Conservative members of parliament who abstained from voting confidence in the government yesterday, today urged greater efforts to overcome weaknesses in national defence.

"There is no indication," he told interviewers, "that the government, constituted as it is, has the ability, or even the will, to make the tremendous effort to rearm and reorganize our national defence on the scale necessary to enable prime minister to meet on equal terms with the dictators who have aspired to dominate the world by force of arms."

For the balance of the year, it will be necessary to curtail expenditure on the navy, and the impairment of the condition of the property, and its equipment, as well as the condition of the fleet, has been a real condition for a rush of traffic which has not materialized.

JAPAN FORCES

MILITARY CHINA

BY LLOYD LEBRAS
Associated Press Foreign Staff
SHANGHAI, Oct. 7.—Japanese forces reached a railway route to the military heart of China today and reported a series of gains at far distant points of the sprawling Chinese metropolis.

Chinese advanced Japanese cavalrymen had fought their way to the Peiping-Hankow railway that leads to the Chinese capital.

The Japanese military capital, Hankow, and even the city of Szechwan, a country that started four months ago.

Japanese advancing up the Yangtze river occupied Kichun, 80 miles from the mouth of the river, and to the north, four Japanese columns were converging on the mountain stronghold of the eighth army, elite legions of Chu Teh, Chinese Red Napoleon.

"We see no prospect of mediation, even after the fall of Hankow," said the foreign office spokesman today, commenting on reports that one result of the Munich accord would be an attempt at mediation.

EXPENDITURES OF C.P.R. TO BE CURTAILED

Company Says Expected
Heavy Fall Traffic Failed
To Materialize

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—An announcement of plans to curtail expenditures in view of traffic failing to materialize in expected volume was made today in a statement made public by Canadian Pacific Railway company.

The statement, on which company officials declined to elaborate, said:

Comparatively heavy expenditures were made in the first half of 1938 in expectation of a good grain yield in western Canada, and of fall traffic which would approximate in volume to that handled in the years prior to 1935.

The company also had to carry the burden of the restoration of basic rates of wages which went into complete effect on April 1, last.

NO TRAFFIC PICK UP
The western crop, which was not satisfactory in yield, did not reach the magnitude which early promises indicated, and general traffic has not picked up to the extent which might have been expected.

For the balance of the year, it will be necessary to curtail expenditure on the railway, and the impairment of the condition of the property, and its equipment, as well as the condition of the fleet, has been a real condition for a rush of traffic which has not materialized.

Hit Big One

JOE DINAGGIO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—A tiny voice answered the telephone at the home of Joe Dinaggio's parents, "Papa and Mama Dinaggio are out in the front room," said Betty Knox, sister of the Yankers' star outfielder.

"Papa and Mama and they are dancing around the room, Papa is shouting, 'Hooryay, he hit a big one.'"

FRIDAY morning's session was occupied in the consideration of resolutions submitted by the different military districts. The committee covered a wide range of subjects from the clothing equipment of the units to the supplying of Bren guns, light tanks and cavalry units.

It was recommended that National Defence Headquarters should supply of better quality vehicles and horses used in training, and the establishment of a person or through an insurance scheme to cover such damage.

The association discussed also the question of pay for machinists of armoured cars, and the need to be in accordance with the technical skill acquired through training.

It was also decided to request the issue of radio sets to cavalry units. Amongst the resolutions discussed were Special courses for physical training, supplying of better quality and more modern clothing to non-permanent active militia units, the supplying of ankle boots as an army issue; the appointment of caretakers of armoured cars, the establishing of a longer training period; an increase in pay for adjutants and orderly room staff; and the issue of light tanks.

GATHERINGS
Friday afternoon the delegates were guests of former commanding officers of the 10th Alberta Dragoons at a luncheon at Mayfair Golf and Country Club, and on Friday morning they were guests of the 190th Alberta Dragoons at the annual dinner of the association.

Public Support
Training Nurses
Strongly Urged

CALGARY, Oct. 7.—Public support for the training of nurses was urged by Mrs. J. H. McLeod at the annual convention of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses here today.

Mrs. McLeod is an inspection representative on the inspection of schools of nursing conducted by the Alberta Board of Nursing.

The public now pays part of the cost of training teachers, doctors and several other professions through support of normal schools and universities she said, adding:

"I think the time has come for public support of the training of nurses."

She urged more clinical training for student nurses and more uniformity in science requirements.

Canada Will Not

DOMINIONS WILL BE EXCLUDED EXPRESSLY
FROM GUARANTEE WHEN IT IS FINALLY DRAFTED

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Canada will not be asked to join in the British guarantee of the territorial integrity of Czechoslovakia, it was stated officially today.

The position of the British government in the use of the word "guarantee" will be excluded expressly from the terms of the guarantee when it is drafted after the London conference.

The British government has been very clearly stated. Of course if any Dominion asked to join the guarantee, it is requested would be granted, but it is considered extremely unlikely here that it will be done.

The British government is now in effect to it will not be incorporated in a treaty until all the boundaries have been delimited and that may not be completed for several weeks. Clearing up the confusion in the considerable confusion in political circles as to how far Great Britain is committed by the verbal guarantee has already given. In Britain's long history the first territorial acquisition given in central Europe, and the average man is frankly puzzled by it.

ARMY MEN ARE FAVORING NEW MILITIA GEAR

Convention Urges Bren
Guns, Light Tanks For
Cavalry Units

Equipment of non-permanent active militia cavalry units with the Bren gun, light tanks and other mechanized equipment was urged by the delegates to the 32nd annual convention of the Canadian Cavalry association Friday.

The association went on record as approving the encouragement by national defence headquarters of the manufacture of arms and equipment in Canada.

Post-War System Of Pacts Vanishes As Germans March

New Structure Must Be Built Around Five
Great Powers—Britain and Italy
Point Way

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1938, by The United Press

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Europe groped toward a new system of international alliances today to guarantee an end of peace. The post-war structure of treaties and safeguards vanished almost overnight in the dust raised by Adolf Hitler's soldiers marching into the Sudetenland. Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy, as well as a fifth great power—Soviet Russia—are the centres around which the new structure must be built if it is possible to lay the foundations for a permanent peace. The negotiations for a treaty between Britain and Italy and for revival of friendship between France and Italy, point the way toward possible future European alignments.

In the past, France had her security alliances with Czechoslovakia, Poland and Soviet Russia as well as on the entire with Great Britain. Germany was encircled by the French system of military treaties and British-French economic power as well as intended to keep all of central Europe out of the Berlin orbit as well as to resist France's Italy expansion.

The rise of dictatorship in Germany and Italy long ago began to weaken that system, but to the climax of the Czech crisis was always the strong possibility that a united front could be built up against Germany—and Italy if necessary—if war came. The Munich agreement destroyed that possibility.

Hitler HURT
AS FLOWERS ARE THROWN

Fuehrer Slightly Injured in Face By Over-Enthusiastic
Sudetenlander

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—Chancellor Hitler was slightly injured in the face today when an over-enthusiastic Sudetenlander tossed a bouquet of flowers at the Fuehrer, missing a triumphant tour of the fourth year of occupation.

Dispatches from the Sudetenland reported the incident did not say just where it occurred.

GENERAL ORDER
As a result of the mishap the Fuehrer issued a general order that Nazi party leaders henceforth will be held personally responsible for seeing to it that flowers are taken away from all persons along his line of march.

Even small bouquets in the hands of spectators must be seized. The population there was admonished strongly by broadcast to refrain from singing Nazi songs. Afternoon papers published warnings against flower throwing.

Hitler today visited the first part of the fourth year of occupation, on the northern fringe of central Czechoslovakia. The German army marched into this district yesterday, the first day of complete occupation today.

Field Marshal Hermann Goerring accompanied the Fuehrer.

FACE SCRATCHED
Authoritative reports said Hitler's face was scratched when he was hit squarely by a bunch of roses. However, the injury was so slight that it was not reported.

A government spokesman said the injury was the danger of the flowers might easily have injured the Fuehrer's nose, with the possible loss of sight.

Better Than for Years

Men and women who were registered in Alberta as unemployed at October 1st, numbered 4,575, a drop of 9,010 from the figures for the corresponding date a year ago. It is a source of course that in a province such as Alberta there should be nearly five thousand persons who need wages and cannot find work. But, compared with the numbers in any of the last six years of this season, the unemployment is remarkably low. Another year at the same rate of decline would see the official list almost blank. And, as momentum counts for something in either direction, there is reason to hope that long despair of condition may come about by this time next year.

Those who are registered as unemployed do not represent the entire number who are without work. But with the registration figures falling so rapidly there is no room to doubt that the unregistered who are finding employment are increasing in corresponding numbers. And anyone who is familiar with conditions in this city has confirmatory evidence that such is the case. It is a long time since the employment situation in Alberta was so good, or so promising of improvement.

Standing Together

Mr. Winston Churchill packed into one sentence the substance of what his critics have been saying about the foreign policy of Mr. Chamberlain and his colleagues which culminated at Munich. "Britain should have declared a long time before-hand she would join with others to protect Czechoslovakia. The Government refused to give a guarantee when it would have saved the situation, yet they gave it too late, and for the future, renewed what they had not the slightest power to make it good."

It may be surmised that Mr. Chamberlain, his colleagues and supporters now realize the deadly accuracy of this summary of the events of the last six months. The overwhelming support given Government in parliament can hardly be construed as challenging the recital of fact. Rather it must be taken as an expression of profound thankfulness for escape from war, and of determination to preserve a "strong front" in the face of continuing and admittedly increasing danger. What was done cannot be undone, and it is traditionally dangerous to "swap horses" when crossing a stream. The future, not the past, is what the majority Commons were thinking about.

Production Tripled

Up to the end of August, Alberta wells this year yielded 4,366,635 barrels of oil, against 1,459,461 barrels last year. This tripled output could and would have been easily exceeded had the demand for the product been present and had there been no measures taken to cut down the waste of gas. The wells in Turner Valley, where most of the oil is produced, are not allowed to flow unchecked. They are choked down because to let them run free would only waste gas to obtain unsaleable oil, while the life of the field would be shortened. With the valves wide open, the output would be several times even the record-making yield of this year. In August, with the conservation record in mind, the output was nearly 900,000 barrels, a rate of more than 9,000,000 per year.

Of the boring of new wells, as of the making of books, there is no end. Drills have been pounding away steadily, in face of the fact that the present market cannot absorb the full output from existing wells. Given a wider demand, the possible production from the known and proven fields is indefinitely large.

Access to world markets, by low freight rates or a pipe line to tide water, would undoubtedly make Alberta one of the world's great oil producing areas. That the oil is here is not a matter of wishful thinking. That has been demonstrated. What remains is to put the oil within reach of buyers in eastern Canada and abroad.

The Economic Squeeze

In the agreement at Munich nothing was said about reparations. Except that the Czechs were to hand over all "installations" of military equipment, industrial plants, railways, wireless stations and other fixed assets in Sudetenland, intact and undamaged. That, supposedly, was to be in satisfaction of any claims for compensation on the part of the Sudeten Germans.

Now, it is reported from Berlin, the Czechs are to be presented with a bill of "reparations" dating back to the organization of the republic, and including claims for compensation for "injuries" inflicted by the Czechs on the Sudeten since 1918. Whether from this bill there will be deducted the value of the surrendered "installations" is not stated. If that is done, it will be an act of voluntary generosity on the part of the Fuehrer. He doesn't have to make the deductions, and it may be supposed the Sudeten will not want them.

So it may come about that the British loan to Czechoslovakia will go into the treasury at Berlin, or into the pockets of the Sudeten; leaving the Czechs to reconstruct their remnant country as they can.

But what seems likely to follow is that the impoverished Czechs will liquidate the reparations bill by surrendering their economic freedom and shaping their tariff, trade and other policies according to Mr. Hitler's desires. That would put the wealth-producing resources of the country under his control and give him all the "glory"—and this without cost.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

THE STREETS OF THE CITY

Again and again I have gone to Ephesus, never failing to get a new thrill. Imagination is fired by the ruins of the old churches—no one of which the ruins of John was recently found—by the great theatre and stadium, by the baths and broken buildings of many sorts.

Most of all I am attracted by the streets. Thanks to the archaeologists and their spades, one may tread the very stones trodden by Paul and Aristotle and the countless of pilgrims to Diana's shrine, as they went to and fro on the Master's business.

These ancient highways make the past live again. Now they echo to the footfalls of live again. Now they are trodden only by occasional tourists. If they had known, these stones would tell of the centuries of pilgrims to Diana's shrine; and of the steady increase of footfalls passing the way.

These ancient streets that we walk, we pray, O Lord, because we have been here on the errands of our faith. Revelation 21:21, 22, 23, Zechariah 2:2.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWDER

Amid all the publication over the prospect of continued peace in Europe, two nations remain silent. One is Czechoslovakia, which occupies the position of the turkey on the Thanksgiving dinner table. The other is Soviet Russia, which has the role of the husky hobo outside the window, knocking and knocking to be called in.

THE NEW LEASE. In the final report, and will it last? now filled with disappointment. Everything including the question of the German colonies, depending on the good faith with which Germany lives up to her part in the four power agreement.

If Hitler, as well as the reason, that the "march to the East" which he mapped out in "Mein Kampf" and has hinted at in his speeches, is beyond accomplishment, Russia has secured what she needs, a secure frontier in Europe.

Berlin papers, published before the Munich peace party was called, were indignant enough to hint that the "Prussian Navy Order" was about to begin. Truckloads of flags for display when Hitler rode in triumph to seize the Sudeten were all ready to be hoisted without delay. The official organ of the Elbe Guard explained the German victory ahead of schedule, by giving credit to "German nerves." It said:

"God is not only with the stronger, but He is also with the better. We have had better nerves, and will keep them."

Plans for an intensified Nazi propaganda in Rumania to follow the seizure of Czechoslovakia, were discussed, looking to the inclusion of Rumania's oil and wheat into the pockets of the Black Sea ports, for the glory of the Reich.

Time will tell whether Hitler's dream of the "march to the East" is finally abandoned, or merely deferred until after the Czechs have been absorbed into the Reich. Till then, Europe will enjoy a breathing spell.

Czechoslovakia was created in 1919 from five districts of the former Austro-Hungarian empire. Hence there is a disposition to regard it as having a history of only twenty years, and its terrain as a chaotic mosaic without coherent geographical unity. Both assumptions are far from the fact. Czechoslovakia is a real geographical unit.

BRITISH ORDER MACHINE GUNS REDUCED 5,000

Major Hahn Gives Evidence Before Justice Davis at Bren Inquiry

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Investigation of the British war order has reduced its price for 10,000 Bren light machine guns from the Royal small arms factory at Enfield, England, to the Canadian department of national defence by Major James E. Hahn, Dec. 1938.

This was disclosed at the Bren inquiry Thursday at a letter from Major Hahn to Major General L. R. LaFleche, deputy minister of national defence, was filed when General LaFleche was in the witness box.

ASKS CANADIAN ORDER

Major Hahn, president of the John Kahn company of Toronto, which now holds contract to make 7,000 Bren guns for the Canadian government and 500 for the British government, had been returned from England after conferring with war office officials. He argued the department to take up with the war office immediately the question of obtaining an order for 5,000 guns for Canada.

The letter was one of many passed between Major Hahn and the department in the fall of 1938 which were laid before the inquiry. The inquiry was presided over by the minister, Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, yesterday. Over the evidence, Lieutenant-Colonel George D. Hahn, a newspaper article criticizing the British contract led to the inquiry proceedings adjourned three-quarters of an hour after the inquiry permission would be received from London to produce additional documents Friday.

Major Hahn Gives Evidence Before Justice Davis at Bren Inquiry

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Investigation of the British war order has reduced its price for 10,000 Bren light machine guns from the Royal small arms factory at Enfield, England, to the Canadian department of national defence by Major James E. Hahn, Dec. 1938.

This was disclosed at the Bren inquiry Thursday at a letter from Major Hahn to Major General L. R. LaFleche, deputy minister of national defence, was filed when General LaFleche was in the witness box.

The letter was one of many passed between Major Hahn and the department in the fall of 1938 which were laid before the inquiry. The inquiry was presided over by the minister, Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, yesterday. Over the evidence, Lieutenant-Colonel George D. Hahn, a newspaper article criticizing the British contract led to the inquiry proceedings adjourned three-quarters of an hour after the inquiry permission would be received from London to produce additional documents Friday.

ASKS CANADIAN ORDER

Major Hahn, president of the John Kahn company of Toronto, which now holds contract to make 7,000 Bren guns for the Canadian government and 500 for the British government, had been returned from England after conferring with war office officials. He argued the department to take up with the war office immediately the question of obtaining an order for 5,000 guns for Canada.

The letter was one of many passed between Major Hahn and the department in the fall of 1938 which were laid before the inquiry. The inquiry was presided over by the minister, Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, yesterday. Over the evidence, Lieutenant-Colonel George D. # PLEBISCITE IN IRELAND ASKED BY DE VALERA

Premier Claims Ireland Must be Considered in Europe Minority Problem

DUBLIN, Oct. 7.—Prime Minister De Valera has indicated to the British government that he considers the time has come to propose a plebiscite in certain areas of the six counties of northern Ireland. It was learned here last night.

Seizing the opportunity afforded by statements of the British government and other minority problems of Czechoslovakia, the prime minister of Eire raised the question of the partition of Ireland with the British government.

VISITS CHAMBERLAIN

On his way home from Geneva, where he acted as president of the League of Nations Assembly, Mr. De Valera met Prime Minister Chamberlain at No. 10 Downing street, in response to a letter written in Mr. Chamberlain's own handwriting, which was sent under the British government's seal.

If a plebiscite were held, government would be asked to consider the six counties—Down, Antrim, Fermanagh, Tyrone, Armagh and Londonderry—under the British administration.

MUST CONSIDER IRELAND

Mr. Chamberlain, who has been in London since his return from Geneva, has emphasized that Ireland cannot be left out of any general settlement of the minority problems in Europe. This is the view of the British government, which is not admitted the minority problem of Ireland was due to racial differences.

Czechoslovakians Start Binding Up Tattered Remnants of Nation

SLOVAKS JOIN GOVERNMENT UNDER TISOT

Two Parties Arrange Working Agreement—Nazi Cause Panic

PRAGUE, Oct. 7.—The Czechoslovak government launched a determined program Thursday to build a more unified Republic by binding together Czechs and Slovaks remaining within its narrow borders.

The first step came with appointment of Dr. Joseph Tisot, vice-president of the Slovak people's party as "prime minister of Slovakia" in the new Slovak government.

His appointment, granting the Slovaks autonomy within the framework of the Czechoslovak government, was requested by the Slovaks and was met with a coalition with two other Slovak political groups—the nationalists and agrarians.

The Slovaks, holding their own at Zilina, refused to accept dependence but promised cooperation with the Czechs in an effort to maintain the republic.

The new autonomous Slovakia will have four ministers in the new government, in addition to Dr. Tisot.

The Slovak minister, acting as prime minister, will be in charge of everything in its territory except foreign affairs, internal administration of the national state and construction of roads. These four items will be under the Czech government.

Dr. Tisot and his four ministers will sit in the Czechoslovak parliament.

The seat of the Slovak government, undoubtedly will be Bratislava, principal city of Slovakia.

INDIA OFFICIAL WARNS CANUCKS BACK BRITAIN

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7.—Sir Fitzhugh Main, Indian high commissioner to London, warned Canadian statesmen Thursday that "what happens in Europe today may well take place in the New World tomorrow."

A luncheon address to the Canadian Club here, the commissioner declared that Canada is the British Empire's strongest ally.

"The many Canadians seem to feel that because they are 3,000 miles from Europe they are safe to live in freedom and peace," he said. "But they are not."

India would not freeze the benefits it has received from England, he said. "Among these are free hospitals, excellent roads, a better social system than in the United States or Europe, and the best schools in Asia."

Oppression and slavery are now parts of the past," he went on, "and a new age is dawning. The world is being broken down and reconstituted."

He said that the British Empire has learned to cooperate amicably in the business of governing their country.

Ontario Tories Assembly Dec. 8-9 To Choose Leader

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Ontario Conservatives Thursday set Dec. 8 and Dec. 9 as dates for a preliminary convention to choose a party leader succeeding Mr. Earl Bawn, leader since 1935. Mr. Bawn announced his resignation at the Ontario Conservative Association annual meeting July 21.

By vote of 290 to 62 delegates rejected the date and held down a proposal to defer the convention until April.

Supporters of Lordald Dink, prominent lawyer for the leadership, have been urged to early convention. Lordald Mackenzie, Conservative house leader and cabinet member, also urged early convention. Thursday a procedure was a democratic way of selecting the date.

Man'slaughter Count In S.F. Is Diminished

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—A slaying charge against two men in the hotel room death of Walter Vincent, 46, United States Federal housing authority executive, was dismissed Thursday by Municipal Judge Hugh L. Smith.

A Good Soldier Sleeps

Involving whole populations as it does, modern warfare puts not only the soldiers but the civilians in the line of fire. A good soldier sleeps in life is already that of a refugee from starvation. Substantially in Czechoslovakia. The photo was taken by the child by sleeping—meant against a doll for release in a Prague relief station.

Lives Of Poor People Saved By Chamberlain's Efforts

GLASGOW, Oct. 7.—Great Britain's participation in a war over Czechoslovakia would have benefited the country's economy, Lord Chamberlain said today, after a long day of work in the House of Commons.

He said he had been reliably informed that France, in the event of a war, expected a death toll of 1,000,000.

"The people who have been killed by the efforts of Prime Minister Chamberlain have been the poor people of this country," Lord Chamberlain declared in a review of the government's policy during the recent European crisis.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The War Office will give an answer Monday to the Canadian government's request for letters and reports bearing on the gun contract which may be used at the inquiry at Ottawa.

The John Inglis company of Toronto was awarded contracts to make 7,000 Bren guns for the Canadian government and 3,000 for the British government. Criticism of the contract between the Inglis company and the Canadian government led to the inquiry.

At present all relevant documents are being examined by military and legal experts of the War Office, at the request of Viscount Slaney, Canadian high commissioner in London, and the British cabinet. The survey is being expedited.

There is no intention at making public the British contract with the Inglis company, though it is being made an address by the War Office.

Schooner Race Definitely On When Course Changed

GLoucester, Mass., Oct. 7.—A compromise last night ended a dispute which had threatened to prevent resumption Sunday of an annual rivalry for the international fishermen's trophy between Captain Angus Walters Canadian schooner, Blenheim, and Captain Ben Pines' U.S. schooner, the Gloucester schooner, the Blenheim.

The race committee announced alternate courses would be used during the first two weeks. The schedule calls for the 18-mile race-around triangle in the opening race off Boston Sunday, a 36-mile triangle off Gloucester Thursday, the 18-mile triangle, twice around, off Gloucester Saturday, and another 36-mile triangle off Boston Sunday the 18th, unless the tide should have been decided in three straight races.

TOTALITARIAN STATES RAPPED BY HIGH CLERIC

BRISTOL, England, Oct. 7.—The Archbishop of York in a recent address before the church congress assailed totalitarian states for "evoking a corruption of the personality incompatible with Christian doctrine of God and man."

"It sometimes seems," he said, "as though God has left Europe as he call off Israel and ancient Rome and that the further fulfillment of His purpose will be entrusted to those younger churches, perhaps Africa, which have not yet had an opportunity to shape their national society."

CONCESSION AT HANKOW TO BE GIVEN BRITAIN

GIVEN BRITAIN

British grew here today that the former British concession here, known as the "Third Administrative District" since 1927, will be handed back to Great Britain by the Chinese government.

British marines brought here from Hong Kong to aid in protecting British civilians in case of hostilities around the city, were the first British forces to march along the old English bund since Jan. 1, 1927.

With Japanese columns drawing closer to Hankow, negotiations are said to have been undertaken to restore the concession to British rule.

The procession was returned to China by the Chen-O'Malley agreement of Feb. 10, 1927, six weeks after Hankow workers had marched in a tremendous demonstration against the smugling barriers thrown around the little area by British marines. The marines were withdrawn and the area passed into Chinese hands for the first time in nearly half a century.

High Scandal So What Now? Only Answer

STORM LASS is a bay mare owned by George M. Hendrie, vice-president of the Ontario Jockey Club, renowned throughout Canada as one of the most reputable men in the racing game. The Hendrie family has been in racing for two generations and never once has a finger of suspicion been pointed at its stable. On September 29 in Toronto, Storm Lass won the Longacre Cup. She was given the diamond saddle and it was positive, Hendrie was accordingly proud. He has any knowledge of her doping and has advertised a $100 reward for information leading to the conviction of those guilty of doping his horse.

That is a rapid fire picture of the sensational scandal that has Ontario racing circles in an uproar. Officials of the Toronto Jockey Club's Association denounced the entire case as a "hoax." The result was two resolutions: to be forwarded to the International Canadian Jockey Association as follows: "1. That a resolution be passed at each track where it is found that a horse has been going to the starting post (2) That an adequate force be provided to police for similar."

For believe that Hendrie is guilty of doping his own horse to win. He would be silly to do it since he has better than anyone that it would be tested if it won. It seems more likely that his horse was doped by a ring of hoodlums to frame him and revenge themselves on him for the fight he has put up against doping.

Here you have the whole case, the problem of saving innocent horses, the man who has been accused of doping his horse to win to the point. It is a warning and a request for more police work. It is a warning to the public that the racing game is not a game of chance but a game of skill. It is a warning to the public that the racing game is not a game of chance but a game of skill. It is a warning to the public that the racing game is not a game of chance but a game of skill.

Investigation Department Imperative

THE Hendrie case gives you a striking picture of how little time salaried men have when it comes to playing golf. They only show that a moment has been given a horse. They don't tell you who did it. Since only the winners are known, this revelation does not show many horses were doped, but it does show that the racing game is not a game of chance but a game of skill.

Having officials, voraciously seeking to squeeze every penny out of an already busy business, continue their efforts to bookend the public with this salvia tea for the simple reason they don't want to spend the money that adequate safeguards would cost. That is true throughout Canada from coast to coast.

For two years now this column has fought to have the western track to act up an efficient investigation department of expert detective work. It is a warning to the public that the racing game is not a game of chance but a game of skill. It is a warning to the public that the racing game is not a game of chance but a game of skill.

GOLFING FAMILY... STUDIES EUROPE'S P.T.... The Hendrie case gives you a striking picture of how little time salaried men have when it comes to playing golf. They only show that a moment has been given a horse. They don't tell you who did it. Since only the winners are known, this revelation does not show many horses were doped, but it does show that the racing game is not a game of chance but a game of skill.

Yankee Juggernaut Leaves Crushed Diz Behind

One of the greatest figures to ever appear on baseball's horizon met up with what most baseball critics agree is probably the greatest ball player ever conceived when the great, older, younger, Dizzy Dean, the much-admired New York Yankees yesterday afternoon in Chicago. That reason most dandified by Dizzy Dean, might be caused by anyone, but it is the way the Yankees exploded yesterday after he had held them handcuffed for eight innings. The center fielder, whose home run sent Dean to the showers, and who left him Tom Hendrie who is hitting a neat .375 in the series to date. The brightest ray of light in the midst of the great Dizzy's troubles is the money in which he set down his full season, even at the extreme right, after Yankee catcher had opened the series with a perfect day at bat. Dizzy didn't let him come for a single hit Thursday.

Dean's Spirit Crushed As Gallant Attempt Fails

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—"I throwed myself out." With these four words Dizzy Dean told the story of his gallant pitching in the crush of Wrigley Field Thursday with the Yankees lambasting him for two home runs, after he held them in check until the eighth inning.

Diz Dean Topped By Home Run Blast

WRIGHT FIELD, CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Dizzy Dean, pitching his heart and arm out with every curve ball he threw, had one foot in the hall of world series immortality Thursday, when the most murderous home run team in baseball history topped the great one and his gallant effort from glory to crushing defeat.

Only four outs away from scoring as superb and glamorous a comeback as the game ever produced, the gallant dizzy man was denied an unforgettable triumph when the home run bats of Frank Crosetti and then great Joe Dinaggo arched balls out of the lot.

The two crushing home run drops, Dizzy and his Cub mates to the brink of world series elimination, giving New York Yankees their second straight game 6-2. They won the first game Wednesday 3-1. This was the storybook picture of $100 shivering fans, their hearts in their throats, never will forget.

COMPLETE MASTER... So complete a master was Dizzy that he reached the start of the eighth inning with only two strikes and a three out, caused by a Cub infield making against him. He could not then as he used to when he was at his zenith. The Cubs had given him a 3-2 lead over lefty Gomez, the Yankee southpaw, who never held that a world series game.

Every fan in the park stirred ecstatically as the first man up, George Selkirk, bopped a single in right field for the fourth Yankee hit, but they sat back in their seats again as Joe Gordon forced him at second, and, in turn, was forced by Meryl Head, pinbattering for the apparently beaten game. It looked as though the story was over.

Then, up stepped the man who had robbed the Cubs in Wednesday's opener with his miracle play, second round — Frank Crosetti. Not much cause for alarm to Crosetti. He had hit only nine home runs all year with the Yankees.

Frankie, probably, had no idea of a homer and as Hog bothered Dizzy with gutters as if to show Crosetti picked just picked away, hitting four balls and running the count to 3 and 2.

MURDER TO MUSIC—By NARD JONES

CAPT OF CHARACTERS
MYRNA DOMBEY, heroine, wife of the emotional young head leader, ROBERT TAIT, hero, newspaper photographer, detective.
ANNE LESTER, Myrna's closest friend.
JANNIE FERRY, officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday, Tait and Anne start out for the country where Myrna may be hiding and Tait reveals that after the shooting he found Myrna's bag with a gun in it.

CHAPTER V

TAIT turned quickly to see how Anne would receive the news that there had been a revolver in Myrna's bag. Even in the dim light from the instrument panel he could see her face blanch.

"That's not true!"

"It is, though," Tait said. "Did Myrna own a gun?"

"Never that I knew of. Anne answered quickly. "Someone was trying to make her seem the guilty one."

"I hope you're right. But about Ludden Dombey and getting that gun into Myrna's bag before the lights went on would be a neat trick. And if she wasn't implicated in some way, why has she run away?"

Anne sighed. "Heaven knows why. But it isn't because she had any money to give to him. I know that."

"I'd bet my very life on it."

They lapsed into silence, and Bob Tait pressed the coupe hard. They had long since left gasoline stations and roadside stands. Farmhouses were growing fewer. Soon they were in a country of vast rolling hills with an occasional tree standing eerily in the darkness.

"I'd forgotten there was country like this," Tait said suddenly. "Reminds me of when I was a kid. I liked it better in the daytime, then—and I think I still prefer some light on it."

Anne chuckled involuntarily. "It is lovely. I wonder if I haven't been wrong, getting us out here."

"I'm afraid you have, but I can't imagine Myrna rushing out here in a rented car or a cab—to stay alone in a shack."

"She wouldn't be afraid. Oh—I hope we're right."

"And so do I," breathed Tait fervently. "If this is a wild guess, then, we've lost some valuable time." He looked at the girl beside him. "And if ever I find you were leading me along the wrong path, I'll surely tell you my neck with my bare hands."

Anne was not resentful of Tait's doubt. She merely said, "I'm more anxious to find Myrna than anyone."

The countryside grew more hilly, and Tait had to resort time and again to the car's second gear. "We're getting near," Anne said at last. "There's a fork in the road just along here. Take the road to the left."

It was the next quarter of a mile that lights picked out the fork, and his hand pulled the steering wheel sharply to the left. The road grew narrower and more rutted. "Are you sure you're right?" he asked, slowing down. "This looks to me like one of those roads that just leads to a dead end."

Anne was peering through the windshield. "I'm sure this is the road. The cottage is right up there on that hill. It—" She stopped suddenly and pointed. "Look! There's a light! Stay there!"

Tait increased his speed. "Good!" He scanned the darker outline of hill above them. "I don't see any light. Are you sure?"

"Positive. We'll probably see it again at the next curve in the road."

"I wonder if we ought to go the rest of the way on foot?" Tait mused. "We might frighten her out of the cottage. After all she doesn't know you and I are out here after her."

Anne nodded. "You won't be able to drive much further, anyhow. We'll come to a fence-line, and the rest of the way is along a footpath."

Even as she spoke, the fence loomed ahead, and the road ended without ceremony. Tait turned the ignition switch and the lights. "Can you find the path?" he said in a low voice.

Anne was quietly opening the door of the car. "Yes. But we should be able to see the light from here. She must have turned it out! I couldn't have been seeing things back there on the road."

Tait nodded grimly, and slid out of the car behind Anne. They started through the blackness. Tait firmly to Anne's arm to keep her from stumbling, but he had to let himself be guided. "Someone Anne managed to follow the path."

A host of worried thoughts flitted through Bob Tait's head. Nothing but the shrewdest sort of desperation, or a mind temporarily unclouded, could have made a girl like Myrna seek this place. And if she were desperate, and that of desperation was caused by guilt, then what would keep her from shooting them down as they rode along the path in the darkness?

If she had been burning a light, as Anne insisted, and had extinguished it, then she must have seen or heard the car. She must know that the cottage was being sought.

Suddenly Tait held Anne from a further forward step. "This is foolish," he whispered. "There's no telling what that girl may do next. You'd better let her know who you are."

Anne nodded. "There in the darkness she called Myrna's name clearly. It echoed and re-echoed. But there was no answer from the cottage shrouded in blackness. "That's okay," Tait said. "At least she knows you're here. She's probably being cautious, but she won't be trying any fireworks. Let's get going. My hunch is that we've been talking to thin air, and that the

SCIENCE NOW POINTING WAY TO GOLDEN AGE

British United Press

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Science is pointing the way to a golden age in which "every person can be made many thousands of times as wealthy as he is today," according to President Karl T. Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"Only the scientist, impelled by disinterested curiosity, can find the way," he told 3,000 educators and undergraduates at a special Northwestern University convention.

This "golden age," he said, will be founded on cheap mechanical energy rather than on cheap slave energy. Far more important than man's material advancement, however, he believed, was the potential progress in ethics and philosophy.

"I'm—I'm afraid," whispered Anne with a queer catch in her voice. "Let's hurry."

She began running headlong toward the cottage, headlong of unseen danger. The next thing Tait knew she had thrown open the door, stood staring into an even deeper black night.

"Myrna! Myrna, please. It's Anne!"

Tait flashed a light and held it aloft. There in a corner of the room, the flickering light was reflected in two fear-widened eyes.

TWO STRIKES ARE NEW DISCOVERIES FOR YELLOWKNIFE

Report of two new gold strikes, claimed to be exceptionally rich, in the Thompson and Pensive Lake sectors of the Yellowknife field were received in Edmonton Thursday.

Climaxing a series of discoveries which have attracted the attention of the entire mining world to this section of the Canadian north, they were reported by J. W. Blaisdell, eastern mining man, who recently returned from the north. He stated that one of the claims was located about 12 miles north of Thompson Lake and contains high-grade veins and a quartz drome located on the same break as the Thompson-Lake mark claims. Details of the second strike were not available.

Jewish New Year in America, Germany Watches

For millions of Jews scattered throughout the world the Jewish New Year offers little hope and cheer as the march of anti-Semitism gains new momentum. These two pictures tell a story of Jewry on two continents. In the picture above the ancient ritual of Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, is performed. One of the Jewish patriarchs blows the "shofar," or ram's horn, calling the Jews to piety and reflection, and the other holds the holy scroll of "Torah" or Old Testament. Orthodox Jews celebrate the New Year two days while reform temples limit the observance to one day. At the right is pictured a cafe in Vienna with the words "New Year" (Jahresfest) painted on the windows. Here, under Nazi regime, the New Year meant accusation of the campaign of persecution against the Jews. Traditionally a time when family ties are strengthened and friendships renewed, Rosh Hashana has much of its meaning in 1938 for thousands of European Jews who through migration, imprisonment or death have been separated from friends and families during a year that has seen anti-Semitic vandalism increase steadily.

LOCAL PRINCIPAL TELLS HOW TRAIN SCHOOL CHILDREN

REGINA, Oct. 7.—Education should train young people to face with intelligence unforeseen situations that arise regularly in this ever-changing world, and should not be merely an accumulation of knowledge, it was stated by W. D. McDougall, principal of the Normal practice school, Edmonton, here Thursday.

Mr. McDougall addressed the combined urban and rural school teachers' convention and Normal school students on "Education Through Activities," and dealt with a radically new system of education now being practiced in Alberta under which students are not registered into successive classes to study various subjects, but through "enterprises" learn several subjects simultaneously.

"Democracy has reached a crisis," Mr. McDougall said. "In the past two weeks, democracy has suffered the greatest blow in centuries. It doubt there are changes ahead, and my duty is to train students who can face changes intelligently. I believe youth can lift democracy to higher heights than ever before."

Switzerland Apprehensive

Swiss government officials fear that peaceful Switzerland may become another Belgium should war break out in Europe over the present German-Czech crisis. Reports of concentration of German troops in the Black Forest, near the Swiss frontier, which is the narrowest gap between France and Czechoslovakia, add to the mounting fears held by the Swiss government.

In face of the critical situation arising out of the German-Czech situation, Switzerland has summoned her army and ordered to take part in maneuvers. These troops were fully armed and ready to march four hours after mobilization order had been issued for the army to prepare for military maneuvers.

There will be a feminine hand in the administration of the new wage-hour law, and here you see it at work. Mrs. E. F. Andrews, above, wife of the administrator, is organizing her husband's office force, answering his mail, receiving visitors.
